DEFENSE OF THE UNITED STATES

IF-A-1-2
IF-C-13

1. The President on 5 November 1953 signed Executive Order No. 10501 with title as given above. This Executive Order becomes effective 15 December 1953.

2. CIA Regulations are currently being rewritten to incorporate as necessary the provisions of this Executive Order. In the interim, however, it is considered desirable that all employees become familiar with this Executive Order and that guidance be given concerning those provisions not covered in existing Agency Regulations.

3. The following advice and instructions are given for CIA implementation on 15 December of those provisions of the Executive Order not currently in CIA Regulations:

a. The words "Security Information" which previously followed a security classification will no longer be used. Rubber stamps presently in use which show a security classification and the words "Security Information" can be changed by removal of the latter words with a sharp knife or razor blade.

b. Forms already printed and bearing the words "Security Information" will not be released outside of CIA. Either these printed forms will be overprinted to strike out the words "Security Information", or if this is not practicable, the words will be deleted by drawing a pen line through them. Present stocks of forms will only be overprinted, or destroyed and reprinted, upon the recommendation or with the concurrence of the Printing Advisory Staff, General Services Office.

c. The security classification of RESTRICTED is abolished. Material which is presently classified RESTRICTED "Security Information" need not be reviewed at this time for the purpose of downgrading or upgrading except when such material is to be transmitted outside of the Agency.

d. The language of definitions of TOP SECRET, SECRET, and CONFIDENTIAL in the Executive Order differs in some respects from that used in current CIA Regulations. However, in substantive intent, the definitions are not dissimilar.
